THE HOME NEWS.

Greeting The New Year.

Hail, glad New Year! We do not ask Our woes you should disperse. We merely urge this simple task— Pray do not make them worse. —Ex.

Make your accounts out on decent stationery. We print that kind.

The Record's collector will start on his rounds next week. Be ready.

Storm doors have been placed in the Garrard Hotel office, which makes the room much more comfortable.

The Ladies Helping Hand Society meets with Mrs. Wolford Saturday afternoon. All members requested to be present.

Mr. A. H. Bastin sold to Jas. White the Wortham property on depot St., for $1,200. This is a nice piece of property.

The new City Council will be installed into service Monday night. Bob Kinnaird and Beddow Morrow are down for speeches.

The Madison Fiscal Court voted five to one in favor of granting a right-of-way to the Interurban Railway of Lexington through the county.

Rev. Mr. McClung, pastor of the Paint Lick church, will preach at the Presbyterian church in this city, next Sunday evening at the usual hour.

Important Meeting.

All members of the Baptist church are earnestly requested to be present at the meeting next Sunday morning. Important business to be transacted.

Don't make out your accounts on scrap paper, or paper containing the cheap advertisement of a patent medicine. Have The Record office get you out an up-to-date bill head.

Called to Louisville.

Rev. J. E. Wolford was called to Louisville Monday morning by the critical illness of his father. Recent news says the sick man is much better.

Capt. Phil Price, of the day trains, is temporarily in charge of the passenger run between Richmond and Maysville. During his absence Joe Arnold is punching tickets on the local short-dog.

Mr. C. B. Engleman, of Paint Lick, was here yesterday and tells us he has released the Veranda hotel at Paint Lick, and will continue to run the same in first-class style. He is a good hotel man.

A dynamo at the electric plant burned out Tuesday night and caused much annoyance to those on that "circuit." The Record office being among the number who had to return to the old tallow-dip.

Out for Congress.

Hon. Richard C. Warren, of Stanford, announced for Congress in Tuesday's Interior Journal. His friends think him a sure winner. Mr. Warren is a capable gentleman and has done much hard work for his party.

Helped us "Pull Out."

Frank Humphrey, who is holding cases on the Somerset Journal, helped The Record office pull out on job work last week. We have had a big run, but have delivered every job promptly. Try us on your next order.

Sale of House and Lot.

Davidson & Landram sold, Monday, to Miss Emma Hood, the Mrs. Nannie Carpenter property on Danville street for $850 cash. This is a desirable location and several parties wanted it. The trade was made through John E. Stormes, who represented Miss Hood.

Wanted—House-keeper.

Being away from my house all day I would like to employ a white lady as house-keeper, and will give liberal wages to the proper party. Or can give house room to a man and wife who will take charge of the place. Apply to Mrs. Hobbs, at Telephone Exchange.

Senator Farris on Hand.

A Frankfort dispatch says: State Senator George T. Farris, of Garrard, is the first member of the new General Assembly to arrive for the session. Senator Farris came in Saturday night to stay until the session closes. He is a receptive candidate for the office of president pro tem of the Senate. He has made no active canvass of the Democratic Senators.

LATIMER—A telegram says Senator Farris has withdrawn from the race.

Died in Alabama.

News was received last week of the death of Mr. Ben Jennings, which occurred at Seale, Alabama, after a brief illness. Mr. Jennings was born and raised in this county but left here in 1862 and enlisted in the Confederate army, serving through the war. He never returned to Garrard permanently, but has frequently visited here. The Seale papers speak of him in flattering terms, both as a business man and citizen.

Their master's Birthday.

Christmas passed off rather quietly, save the work of some of the boys who showed their delight over the birth of the Saviour by getting drunk, shooting bombs, etc. They were evidently glad that He was sent into the world, judging from their enthusiasm over His birthday.

Prominent Promoter Here.

Hon. S. Woodward, of Cincinnati, president of the Cumberland River & Nashville R. P., in which several Lancaster men are interested, was here this week to attend a meeting of the stockholders of the road. The plans are about completed, and it is a settled fact that they will build the road.

Notice to Creditors.

The creditors of R. C. Hamilton are requested to present their claims to J. I. Hamilton within thirty days. I hope by this way to learn the amount of his indebtedness. If I am able to pay it I intend to do so, if not, I will pursue the course prescribed by law. The reason I ask this is to see if I am able to settle without the cost to which litigation would subject me. Most respectfully, Nannie Hamilton.

Maccabee Officers.

The local lodge of Maccabees elected the following officers, at the meeting Friday night: Past commander, Ed. Bishop; Commander, L. L. Walker; Lt. commander, Hughes Aldridge; Chaplain, J. B. Conn; Sergeant, Tom Burnett; Master of arms, W. M. Zanon; 1st master of guard, John Pennington; 2nd master of guard, A. K. Traylor; sentinel, M. D. Hughes; picket, J. D. Guley; recorder, J. Joseph.

Soon to Talk With Louisville.

The Lexington Herald says construction of the Independent lines between that city and Louisville will soon be completed, and all the Independent lines in Kentucky will have connection with the Falls City. The Independent lines (of which the Lancaster exchange is a member) his instruments in every prominent business house in Louisville, Lexington and nearly all other cities in the state, so the convenience to the people of Lancaster and Garrard county can be readily seen.

Many Connections.

A list of subscribers to the Fayette Home Telephone Company, 1st issued, shows that in Lexington it has over 1,600 patrons, and there are 106 towns in central Kentucky with which connection can be had. The list of towns is arranged alphabetically, beginning with Austerlitz and ending up with Winchester. There is not an advertisement in the directory. The Company does not make its patrons pay for its literature. A specialist of practicing physicians is published on the back cover, for the convenience of those wishing a doctor in a hurry. The Bastin Company, of this city, connects with all these towns, and can give you any number you may wish, direct from your home 'phone. Could you want anything better?

Compliment to Lancaster Man.

After speaking of the work he has done toward developing Eastern Kentucky, the Mountain Echo says of a townsman, Col. L. F. Hubble: "That he will succeed there is no reason to doubt, for he is a man of fine judgment, full of energy, pushing determination. With these characteristics all well developed and healthy, vigorous working order, we have every reason to believe and confidently expect in the near future to chronicle the successful achievements won all along the line by this brave and enterprising spirit. The monument he would thus build will be more lasting than brass or marble and as his summit is kissed and bathed in the sunshine the people of the mountains (God's temple) will look upon it and exclaim, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant, thrust in thy hand and reap the fields now ripe unto harvest.'"

We Certainly "Eat" Brother.

Because the Winchester Democrat man didn't get his name in the pot, opens his head and says: "The other week Louis Landram, of the Lancaster Record, wrote musical Joe Waters, editor of the Lincoln Democrat, to bring along his cornet, and come over to Paint Lick and eat a big supper, and as a side issue to institute a lodge of Knights of Pythias at that place. Landram agreed to furnish the hot air to accompany Joe's cornet on the organ, and impressively closed his epistle to Joe by saying that the K. P.'s of Paint Lick were going to raise hounds and shove a log under it on the occasion. The lodge was instituted, the supper furnished by the ladies of the Presbyterian church was a big success, but as nothing has been heard of Louisville or Joe since the event, the Democrat is displaying some anxiety to know whether the log slipped or the supper was too rich for their editorial blood."

It was reported that one of the bombs fired Christmas night came out of The Record office. Any person who makes this statement is an infamous liar.

Former Lancaster Boy.

Rev. Lucien Noel, who is well known and remembered by many of our citizens, has received two flattering calls for the ensuing year, one in Illinois and another in Kansas. He has not yet decided upon which he will accept.

Pound Parties.

The pound party given by the Christian Endeavorers Thursday was largely attended and greatly enjoyed. The party was given at the Christian church. It proved such a great success that another was given at same place Monday night.

A Fly Cop.

Marshall S. D. Turner blossomed out in a stylish new uniform last week, and outshines any copper who ever swung a club. "Dee" is a fine-looking fellow, anyway. The law ought to require all peace officers to wear a uniform, as it has a good effect. The hoodlum element has a fear of a brass buttons.

Change in Managers.

Press of other matters caused Judge M. D. Hughes to resign as manager of the local opera house, and the company secured the services of Mr. T. B. Long, who has had many years experience in such business. Mr. Long will put forth every effort to secure only first-class attractions, and that he will succeed is a foregone conclusion.

Narrow Escape.

A gasoline machine exploded in Fox & Logan's stable, at Danville, last week, and it took the hardest kind of a fight to save the building. Had not the flames been extinguished, the entire block, including the Gilcher hotel, would have gone up in smoke. Gasoline is the most dangerous stuff to have in the house, and always gets in its destructive work when least expected.

They Can't Bluff Him.

Harrodsburg Democrat—Louis A. Leavel, the colored lawyer, has received four anonymous letters in which his life is threatened. His father, who lives in Lancaster, was also written to in which he was advised to get Louis out of Harrodsburg before Christmas eve night or they would get him sure. The old man enclosed the letter to his boy and warned him to be on his guard. The attorney is still here and doesn't seem to be "skert."

Masonic Election.

At the annual election of officers for Lancaster Lodge, No. 104, Free and Accepted Masons, the following brethren were chosen: Louis Landram, worshipful master; Jacob Joseph, senior warden; K. F. Postle, junior warden; David Ross, treasurer; Robt. Kinnaird, secretary; A. T. Anderson, steward and tyler. J. W. Sweeney was appointed senior deacon and Fred P. Frisbie junior deacon. The attendance at the election was larger than for several years. There are quite a number of petitions in now, and there will probably be work at every meeting.

An Up-To-Date Merchant.

THE RECORD desires to call attention to the large grocery store of H. M. Ballou, on the corner of Public Square and Richmond street. Mr. Ballou is one of the most wide-awake merchants in Central Kentucky, and takes great pleasure in saying to his old friends and patrons that he will continue to handle a most complete and up-to-date stock of groceries. No pains will be spared to secure the very best and most reliable goods on the market, and, as he has always done, will sell them at the very lowest prices. He has been in business in Lancaster for thirteen years, and no one in say they ever received bad treatment in his store. What you buy here is strictly reliable and can be depended upon as the very best. Hon. E. A. Gullon, formerly of the Danville Advocate, knows him quite well by reputation. The following, taken from a Washington paper, shows how the clever little quill-driver stands in his new home:

Kind Words For Deserving Boy.

Those of our readers who are not personally acquainted with Harry Gannoll, formerly of the Danville Advocate, know him quite well by reputation. The following, taken from a Washington paper, shows how the clever little quill-driver stands in his new home: "Harry Gannoll, private secretary to Commissioner of Internal Revenue, is known down in Kentucky as 'The Count.' He is very well known in the newspaper world, as he spent twenty-three years of his life in that line. His rise in life has been entirely due to his own energy. Commenting on a typewriter at the age of eleven, he gained an insight to the foundation of newspaper work, following the line of printer for thirteen years. For eight years he was a reporter and editor of a tri-weekly paper in Danville, Ky., and in connection with the work he contributed largely to the leading metropolitan dailies."

Dangerous Work.

The reckless use of dynamite and bombs on the streets Christmas night was a practice that was extremely dangerous. The boys did not think of the danger, for had they considered the matter they would certainly have placed their explosives out of the way of pedestrians. One was fired between The Record office and Stormes' drug store which broke four of our large window glass, jarred things off the shelf in the drug store, and we can safely say loosened the plastering on the wall. Had some one chanced to pass in a buggy, it meant certain death. On Stanford street, Mr. Jake Joseph narrowly missed walking over one. Had he been a moment later, he would have been instantly killed, and then it would have become necessary to stretch a few necks to trees in the Park, which would have certainly come to pass. The police tried to catch up with the boys, but failed to do so.

A Word to Merchants.

A great many local merchants have blown in considerable money the past year on different schemes under the name of "advertising." Now, just a word, please. Stop, make a calculation and see what benefit these have been to you. Then figure out what the same amount spent that way would have done had you told the people through the columns of The Record what you had for sale. The latter would have gone where programs, fence rails, etc., could not, that is right to the fireside of twelve hundred subscribers. Think of this. We do not want to worry merchants by ding-donging at them, but we do ask them to stop and think a moment, and we know they will see that an advertisement in these columns will bring forth ten-fold better results than some harem-scram sign, or their name stuck in some place where people don't care to be warred with cheap-hash "advertising."

"Going Over Home."

The above is what Prof. "Henry" Saxton says when his band is employed to play in Lancaster. It is not generally known that Saxton's name is not "Henry," but "Harry." His father was named Henry, and had the finest band in the south. When the two sons, Harry and Orine, were about ten years of age, they both played in the famous "Henry" Saxton's band, and their exceptional ability and tender age attracted attention all over the country. The other son, Orine, died some years ago, and later the noble old father was laid to rest. The band organization was kept up by the present leader, Harry, and as it was known far and wide as Henry Saxton's band, the name finally stuck to Harry, and today not one-tenth of the people who enjoy his sweet music know the difference. The elder Saxton and Gen. W. J. Landram, of this city, were great friends, and the latter arranged much music for the band, in fact the present leader says the first set of books he ever played out of were made by Gen. Landram. The latter took such a fancy to the boys and worked so unceasingly for their advancement that Harry says he loved him as a father, and when he comes to Lancaster, he says he is "going over home," and always visits The Record office to look at the large picture of Gen. Landram hanging therein. Harry Saxton is as tender-hearted as a child, and when a favor is done for him, he never forgets it. He has many friends here who are always delighted to sit up all night to hear him play. Other members of the band like to come here, as they say they are always given a warm reception and made to feel at home. Those here last week were Harry Saxton, leader, "Pap" Eckert, 2nd violin, Charley Storm, cornet, Brown Anderson, clarinet, Bert Wilson, bass, and A. Kent Storm, drums.

Of Interest to Newspaper Men.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Press Association was held recently at Seelbach's Hotel, in Louisville. The members present were President, Harry McCarty, Nicholasville Journal; Secretary, Morningstar, Bowling Green; C. C. Howard, Hodgenville Herald; E. A. Gullon; Louis Landram, Lancaster Record; Chairman Moore and Mr. M. F. Conley of the committee were unavoidably absent. One of the objects of the meeting was to entertain Messrs. Huber Ringgold, of the Louisville and Nashville; Mr. R. T. Matthews, of the Missouri Pacific, and Mr. George Garrett, of the Henderson Route, and to make them each a Christmas present in remembrance of past courtesies. This committee and Mr. Robert W. Brown, ex-president of the association, were also present, and Messrs. Ringgold, Matthews and Garrett had been invited to join them and the Executive Committee at dinner. Unfortunately, Mr. Ringgold was sick and Mr. Matthews was among the Mormons in Salt Lake City, so Mr. Garrett was the only one of the three railroad men in attendance. The newspaper men and their guests sat down to a handsome repast at 2 o'clock and after discussing the viands for two hours finished with a business session of the committee and the presentation of the gifts. A good deal of routine business was then transacted, some of a private nature. The subject of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition was brought up and President McCarty was authorized to appoint a committee to advocate an appropriation for the exposition by the General Assembly, and also to attend to other matters of legislation desired by the press of Kentucky. The Kentucky Press Association has the largest membership of its history and is a compact, working and determined organization. The administration of President McCarty promises to be most successful.

Cold Weather's Work.

The strangest occurrences often take place during extremes of heat and cold. For instance, during the memorable Arctic spell of February, a few years ago, old Bill Rudd, of John's Bottom, acquired a winter hump in his back that he has never been able to get rid of, even in the hottest weather. Its a fixture to which he has become resigned. He had another remarkable experience of a polar character only quite recently. It will be remembered that Bill is noted far and near for his enormous beard, which is a tangled, tawney mass at least two feet long. On his way up to town in a wagon one day during the stinging cold just before Xmas his hirsute monstrosity became thickly incrustated with ice, freezing up so tight and hard that he was absolutely unable to open his mouth for quite a while. He was forced to breathe through his nostrils. By degrees he assumed the appearance of an automatic chunk of ice, and when he reached town he could only make signs and utter strange grunts that made the little boys laugh. Leaping from his wagon, he rushed with a stiff, bow-legged movement into Elkin's meat shop and was told to go "way back and sit down" by a hot stove. This he did instantly. When the ice "busted" his tongue flew loose, and as the icicles began to hustle upon the floor old Bill declared in a loud, shaky voice that if he were spared to get back home alive he would be "dash binged" if he didn't sheer off his whiskers, even if his little children should ever afterwards hide from him as from a total stranger. It seems that the oldest inhabitant, who happened to be in the room at the time, and who had been a startled eye-witness of this remarkable incident, was strangely affected by it. Slowly shaking his head in silence from side to side, he rose unsteadily from his chair, and, with set, pallid features and eyes staring vacantly into space, tottered out into the cold, gray street.

Jarred "Central."

When the bomb that broke The Record's windows was fired on Danville street Christmas night, we understand it also played havoc in the telephone exchange across the street. Mr. Bastin, the clever president, was sitting at his desk, eating a lunch. Just as the bomb fired, Mr. B. went straight in the air, as though lifted by magic. When he "lit" on the floor, the jar was so great that a number of bottles in the drug store below were shaken from the shelves, and the clerks ran pell-mell into the street, thinking the building was falling. Dr. Kinnaird was hastily summoned and found that, save from the burning by a cup of hot coffee, the clever telephone man was unhurt, though his nerves were badly shattered. By hard work Dr. Kinnaird checked the flow of cuss words, and sweet peace soon reigned supreme. In order that our readers may have some idea of the fall, we reproduce a recent picture Mr. B. had taken just after attending that banquet at Owensboro:

CENTRAL RECORD.

An Independent, Local Newspaper.
ISSUED WEEKLY.

LOUIS LANDRAM, Editor and Publisher.

Lancaster, Ky Jan. 2nd 1902.

SELFISHNESS in some form is at the foundation of most of our unhappiness and misery. If we could analyze all the suffering in the world and trace it back to its first cause we would probably find that selfishness was the greatest factor in creating it, says the Jessamine Journal. It may be selfishness of a social kind, but under whatever form it appears it has practically the same results. There may be a difference in kind, but results a question of degree. Most of us are possessed and governed by selfish motives in life. What we speak of as ambitious ends are more than likely dictated by a certain form of selfishness. One may hardly succeed in this life without making another suffer for it. What is one person's gain is too often another's loss. The woman who shines socially is sure to create envy and heart burnings in another. Jealousy is created in every sphere of human action, whether of business or pleasure.

No sooner had Editor Walton, of the Harrodsburg Democrat, moved to Lexington to enjoy the fruits of a life of toil and trials than the City Council passed an ordinance requiring all married men to be at home by eleven o'clock at night and imposing heavy fines for infractions of the ordinance. If Editor Walton doesn't immediately present such an abridgement of personal liberty by returning to Harrodsburg he is not the kind of man we think he is.—Glasgow Times.

Come, come, Mr. Times man. Mr. Walton gets in early, very early. In fact we suspect he frequently comes in as early as 2 a. m.

MANY were the swear-words made yesterday. We hope all will be lived up to, strictly, but First-of-January resolutions frequently fail. Our plan of reformation was to wait a few days after the first, and then say, "I am resting," and this "rest" will have been unbroken for six years, tomorrow. The "resting" plan is successful from the fact that a man does not feel that he is bound to do or not to do a certain thing. Its the old case of stolen sweets, when you have "sworn" off. (Pardon the personal allusion, as we always tell our experience, instead of giving advice).

AN Illinois town of 150 has a saloon which pays $700 a year license. This money is used for building sidewalks, and they say that the town has more sidewalks than anything else. Mark Twain's order to the lightning rod agent to put one on every point of the dwelling and then one on the cook and the cow is outdone by the sidewalks in this town. They have brick walks out in the country, and if the saloon keeps up they will soon have a brick sidewalk to the county seat.

LAST week the Jessamine Journal rounded out the twenty-seventh year of its useful career. The Journal is one of the cleanest and most reliable papers published in the state, and is justly entitled to the liberal support it receives. It is an honor to the county, and the people of Jessamine should feel proud of it. We wish Messrs. Harry McCarty and Jim Stearns many years more of good health and prosperity.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has abolished the custom of handshaking at the public receptions. This takes away the main feature, so far as the public is concerned, as all nine-tenths of the people go for is to come home and tell their country cousins they have shaken hands with a real live president. A look at the dashing Teddy will not suffice, and he should reconsider his order.

A SEAT in the New York Stock Exchange was recently sold for $30,000. That high-toned gambling house is all right in the sight of the law. Its the poor crap-shooter who is made to suffer for his wrong doing. If you have plenty of money you can do what you please, these days.

We learn from reliable sources that Col. Dan Collier, of this city, is as certain of securing the Surveyorship of the Louisville Port as a nickel is to get a ginger cake. You can't head a Lancaster man. When one shys his castor into the ring, all others may as well tuck tail and take to the woods.

It is said President Roosevelt knocked a fellow down in Washington the other day. That's nothing, he cuts off the heads of Kentuckians sometimes, and there are several of our prominent citizens now on pins and needles in fear of his mighty axe.

EDITOR CROWE, of the Mayfield Mirror, will go on the lecture platform, the subject being "The Man With the Hoe." Here's hoping Bro. Crowe will be able to hoe his own row in the new field.

THE usual number of casualties from toy pistols were reported last week. When a kid hurts himself with such "toys" the parent giving it should be taken out and ducked in a frog pond.

A LEXINGTON woman has been granted a pension under the "Original Widow" act. Great guns! How many widows can a soldier leave?

"BUSINESS" seems to be a little lax in Lexington. Its been a day or so since they had a killing over there.

PAINT LICK.

Clell Terrill sold his farm to Mike Noe for $10,000.

Jack Adams sold a sow and pigs to J V Logan for $25.

Our bank observed Christmas day by being closed all day.

EL Woods shipped two car loads of cattle and hogs to Cincinnati Saturday.

Christmas passed off unusually quiet here, only a few small drunks reported.

Mr Henry Riddleburg, our miller, has been confined to his bed for several days.

Dr W G Cassenburgh has purchased the Dan Slaughter house and lot for $480.

Jess Ledford bought the Nath Ross place of 130 acres from Mike Noe, at $45 per acre.

The Y. M. C. A. will meet every Sunday evening at two o'clock at the reading room here.

The Masons met in their lodge and elected the following officers to serve the ensuing year: J A Conn, Master; J A Spratt, S W; W B Brown, J W; R N Beazley, Sec; J A Scott, Treas; T M Lackey, S D; G W Kemper, J D; R K Conn, Tyler. The members of the order are taking a great deal of interest in the work and they will soon have a prosperous lodge here.

Mr John Ferrill, of Cincinnati, visited his sister, Mrs Annie Adams during the Christmas. Miss Browning Yeiser, of Danville, is the guest of the Misses Francis. Mr Eli Estridge has been dangerously ill. Dr B Ramsey and wife went to Stanford, Monday, to visit their daughter, Mr Jno. Bright, Jr. James Butner is on the sick list this week. Mr W G Kempfer's brother and sister, of Owen county, visited him this week.

There was a large crowd at the Christmas tree at Mt. Tabor. The tree was loaded with all kinds of presents, and the little children's hearts leaped with joy when Old Santa made his appearance and began to distribute the presents. Robert Arnold acted Santa Claus, and while he was taking the presents off of the tree the cotton on his coat took fire and it seemed like there would be a panic, the women and children began to scream and run, but for the timely aid of some of the cooler heads he would have been badly burned. He escaped however, with his eye brows and forehead slightly scorched. Will Fish said if Bob hadn't been so green he might have been seriously burnt.

RELIGIOUS MATTERS.

REST. If we believed, we should arise and sing. Dropping our burdens at His pierced feet. Sorrow would flee, and weariness take wing. Hard things grow fair, and bitter waters sweet.

If we believed, what room for fear or care. Within His arms, safe sheltered from all harm. Peace for our pain, and hope for our despair. Is what He meant who said: "I give thee rest."

Why linger, turn away, or idly grieve? Where else is rest—the soul's supremest need? Gladly He offers: meanly we receive. Yet love that gives us rest is love indeed.

The love that rests, say, shall it not do more? Make haste, sad souls, thy heritage to claim. It calms, it heals; it bears what'erst ye bore, And marks thy burdens with his own dear Name.

Carried in Him and for Him, can they bear? Or press thee worse, or prove a heavy weight? Nay, say into thy life His blessed calm. Shall drop, and thou no more be desolate.

No more with downcast eyes go faltering on. Alone and sick at heart, and closely pressed. Thy chains shall break, thy heavy heart be gone. For He who calls thee, He will "give thee rest."

THE MAN HE WAS.

A Little Incident That Showed the Character of a True Christian Gentleman.

An eminent man had passed away, and the whole community seemed moved with grief. The bar of the neighboring city where he had been a judge passed resolutions of respect, the church to which he had belonged expressed its sorrow in fitting terms; every one was saying that a good man, a Christian gentleman, had gone. In groups the neighbors stood outside while the hearse waited, and recalled incidents in his useful life. Among them a young laboring man of intelligence and character stood, and this was the incident which he related:

"When I first came to town, four years ago, I got a job on an ice wagon. It was heavy work, and I was not so strong as now, but I got on pretty well. One morning I came to deliver ice at the judge's house, just as he came out at the front door and started for his train. He hurried past me with a nod, for while he did not know me, he was always courteous to every one. I was carrying 130 pounds of ice, and it was a pretty heavy load. As he passed me he noticed it and turned.

"See here, young man," said he, "I can't allow this. Set that down." "I set it down and he took hold of the other handle of the tongs and helped me carry it into the kitchen. 'Now,' said he, 'don't undertake such a load again.'"

"He had missed his train, and he went by the company's office and told them so. I learned that the work was too heavy for a boy. His protest resulted in the putting of another man on each wagon that distributed ice in large cakes. I always thought it showed the kind of man he was."

The incident seemed trivial, perhaps, compared with others that were related, some of which concerned large enterprises, and conspicuous public services; but there was something about this little incident that caused me to remember it. "I am not sure," said one man, "but that incident best displays his character. To help another with a burden that was too heavy, to go out of his way to seek another's good, to miss a train that he might right a wrong so common and respectable that no one else thought of it, or thought of it only as something that could not be helped, and to do it all unostentatiously, courteously and successfully—what better proof could be desired that he was a true Christian gentleman?"—Youth's Companion.

Not the Highest Stand. Christ forbids His people to stand jealously upon their rights, and calls them to give these up, on proper occasion, for higher ends. A life based on giving and exacting right is a higher life than one which seeks only pleasure and self-indulgence. But it is not the highest. It tends to a condition in which men are at strife with each other over their mutual claims. As Mazzini says, society is not held together by rights, but by sympathy, by self-sacrifice, by heroism. All these abounded in the life of Jesus Christ. To give, asking nothing again, was the burden of His life, and was His revelation of the goodness of the Father. To that He calls us in bidding us to exceed the righteousness of the Pharisees and to be perfect as is our Father in Heaven.—S. S. Times.

The Pure in Heart. The pure heart not only sees God himself, but they become a medium for transmitting His thoughts to others. It is at last as if God were thinking through every look and movement of the purified soul.—Lucy Larcom.

Fear God. To realize the majesty and power of God will doubtless make a man feel God; but that same man will cease from that moment, to fear anybody or anything else.—Wellspring.

Live and Love. Life outweighs all things if love is within it.—Goethe.

Feeding the Baby. New Girl—Please, sir, the misanthrope, out, and I can't do a thing with the baby. He cries all the time.

Mr. Winks—Humph! Something must be done. Let-me-see. There's an idiot asylum is just a few squares away. Send up for one of the feeble inmates to come down here. I'll pay all charges.

"But what do you want of such a creature as that?" "I think maybe she will be able to talk baby talk to him until his mother returns."—N. Y. Weekly.

REMARKABLE CURE OF CROUP.

A Little Boy's Life Saved.

I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I feel that I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A. E. Steere of Goodwin, S. D., and when I got home with it the poor baby could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes until he "threw up" and then I thought sure he was going to choke to death. We had to pull the phlegm out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive that if I had not got that bottle of cough medicine, my boy would not be on earth today.—Joel Demont, Inwood, Iowa. Women and Jewels.

Jewels, candy, flowers, man—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Jewels form a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous efforts to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boesche's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at Stormes' drug store. Get Green's Special Almanac. 6m

There is no cement that will repair broken promises.

Brain-Food Nonsense.

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for brains. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get Dr. G. G. Children Especially Liable.

Burns, bruises and cuts are extremely painful and if neglected often result in blood poisoning. Children are especially liable to such mishaps because they are so careless. As a remedy I've Witt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Drips out the fire, stops the pain, soon heals the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. Pileation, like polishing powder, brightens up the spoons.

Don't Live Together.

Constipation and health never go together. DeWitt's Little Early Risers promote easy action of the bowels without distress. "I have been troubled with constiveness nine years," says J. O. Greene, Depauw, Ind. "I have tried many remedies but Little Early Risers give best results."—F. P. Frisbie.

Mr. John F. Lear surprised his many friends last week by taking unto himself a wife. For some time he had been paying much attention to Miss Fannie Harris, who was visiting Mrs. Long, at the New Garrard, but none of his friends thought the couple were thinking of marrying. John stole the march on his friends, however, and Wednesday night they took the train for Cincinnati, where they were married at the Palace hotel. They returned Friday night, and have rooms at the Garrard. The bride came to Lancaster from Circleville, Ohio, about a year ago, and had charge of the trimming department in Miss Dove Harris' millinery store. She is quite a handsome and attractive young lady. Mr. Lear has resided here all his life, and numbers his friends by the score. He is employed in Mr. H. T. Logan's clothing store, and is one of the most steady and reliable young men in town. THE RECORD wishes the couple a long life of happiness.

The dance given by the young gentlemen at the opera house last week, was a success in every particular. The young gentlemen were on their best behavior, the young ladies never looked lovelier nor did Harry Saxton make sweeter music than on this occasion. It was feared by some that the stage was not large enough for the dance, but when put in condition, six sets of lancers were easily formed, with room for another. The floor soon became smooth, the lights were brilliant, the heat perfectly regulated, and there was absolutely no dirt anywhere to soil the handsome dresses of the ladies. This plan was suggested by Manager T. B. Long, who had all the arrangements perfect in every detail. The band was stationed in the orchestra pit, while the spectators sat in the auditorium, where they had a good view of the merry dancers and could distinctly hear the sweet music of Saxton's famous orchestra. The young men had given tickets to a great many of their friends, and the house was comfortably filled by spectators. The ticket plan was worked strictly, and an objectionable element that sometimes crowd in at events of this kind was shut out completely. Dancing began at nine o'clock, and it was before long the program was completed. There were so many ladies and gentlemen present as spectators that we only have room to give a list of those who participated, which is as follows:

Miss Tevis Carpenter, Stanford, pink mull, pink ribbons.

Miss Pearl Burnside, Stanford, white silk mull, diamonds.

Miss Annie Bronaugh, Crab Orchard, black silk, trimmed in blue chiffon.

Poison Oak Poison Ivy

are among the best known of the many dangerous wild plants and shrubs. To touch or handle them quickly produces swelling and inflammation with intense itching and burning of the skin. The eruption soon disappears, but almost as soon as the little blisters and pustules appeared the poison had reached the blood, and will break out at regular intervals and each time in a more aggravated form. This poison will loiter in the system for years, and every atom of it must be forced out of the blood before you can expect a perfect, permanent cure.

SSS Nature's Antidote

FOR
is the only cure for Poison Oak, Poison Ivy, and all noxious plants. It is composed exclusively of roots and herbs. Now is the time to get the poison out of your system, as delays make your condition worse. Don't experiment longer with salves, washes and soaps—they never cure. Mr. S. M. Marshall, bookkeeper of the Atlantic Gas Light Co., was poisoned with Poison Oak. He took SSS, and every atom of it, and other drugs, and applied externally numerous lotions and salves with no benefit. At times the swelling and inflammation was so severe he was almost blind. For eight years the poison would break out every season. His condition was much improved after taking one bottle of S. S. S., and a few bottles cleared his blood of the poison, and all evidences of the disease disappeared.

People are often poisoned without knowing when or how. Explain your case fully to our physicians, and they will cheerfully give such information and advice as you require, without charge, and we will send at the same time an interesting book on Blood and Skin Diseases.

Many good wishes, and a merry Christmas, to the editor and THE RECORD force.

Mr David Swope was so unfortunate as to have his house consumed by fire last Saturday night. The fire originated from a defective fuse,—they saved the piano, but very little furniture. They lost about $40 in money. Much sympathy is extended especially to the invalid sister, who had to be taken, on her couch, to the nearest neighbor, where she was given every attention.

Miss Lee Herring returned Saturday from Georgetown College, to spend Xmas with her parents, Mr and Mrs. T. I. Herring. Madam Rumor reports a wedding in this neighborhood this week. Bogie has returned home from Danville, where she has been at the bedside of her nephew, Master Freddy Hughes, who still continues seriously ill with brain fever.

NATURE.

Woman's Constitution.

Beginning at the time when girlhood blossoms into lovely womanhood, through all her life, until the first few silver streaks appear, woman's days of cold and suffering come again, and as the most common ailments of woman are, and bring her weakness, headache, chills, discomfort and depression, yet she bears her burden patiently and with rare courage. The only remedy she can gain is through alleviation, strengthening herself, insuring quiet curves and rest.

"Some time ago my daughter caught a severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and had a bad cough." I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this remedy in my family for the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Prendergast, merchant, Annato Bay, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly warded off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. Sold by R. E. McRoberts, druggist.

Crushing corn seems to be satisfactory for calves, colts and all young cattle during the average season, particularly if they are being fed to the limit. It is also desirable at any season for dairy cows. Corn and cob meal will warm her through and through, alleviate her suffering, relieve that depressing pain, strengthen her nerves, drive away that sinking dull fatigues, stop that headache, soothe her like a mother's kiss, and carry her safely and comfortably through her troubles.

There will be no obstructed periods. The ever recurrent and monthly moon will follow regularly upon each other thirteen times a year.

The oil is shooting into the air, and is burning fiercely. The price of leases in Knox and Roekcastle counties has risen 500 per cent, as a result of the strike. This is the biggest well ever brought in in Knox county.

The Prohibitionists of Kentucky will present a new plan for the regulation of the liquor traffic to the next Legislature. Under the present law all territory is open to retail liquor dealers except where prohibition has been voted. The new plan proposes that this arrangement shall be reversed, and that the saloon shall be prohibited except where it is specifically permitted to exist.

The statement has been made frequently that the negro race was on the decline, while as a matter of fact the figures of the decade prove that it has increased. The percentage of increase for all persons of color is 17.8 and out of that percentage the negroes may claim all but a very small part. There are now more than twice as many of them in the country as there were in the days of slavery, and they constitute almost one-eighth of the total population.

The Kentucky Educational Association adjourned Saturday after adopting a resolution to ask the coming Legislature to amend the school law so as to abolish the third-class certificate; make the county the taxing unit; give the school district temporary authority to vote a tax to build school houses, and revamp the trustee system in important particulars.

Those who have examined the tobacco crops not only in Clark county, but of others in the Burley district, report that the crop is very deficient both in quantity and quality.—Winchester Democrat.

Last year Missouri produced more manufactured tobacco than any other State in the Union, over 78,000,000 pounds passing through its factories. And in proportion to population, Missouri in 1900 paid more internal revenue tax than any other State except one.

It seems like old times to hear of cattle selling around $7 as was the case recently, when a number of consignments sold at that figure. This is said to be the highest figure touched for about seventeen years. Feeding fifty cent corn will demand that prices will remain not far from this figure.

Crushing corn seems to be satisfactory for calves, colts and all young cattle during the average season, particularly if they are being fed to the limit. It is also desirable at any season for dairy cows. Corn and cob meal seem to be more satisfactory than corn meal, because of the fact that the cob, while it has no nutritive value, has a favorable effect on the animal's stomach. For steers two-years-old, and particularly for healthy hogs, it is doubtful whether any preparation of grain feed is necessary other than possibly the shelling of the corn near the end of the fattening period.

The many friends of G. H. Hansen, Engineer, L. E. & W. R. R., at present living at Lima, O., will be pleased to know of his recovery from threatened kidney disease. He says, "I was cured by using Foley's Kidney Cure, which I recommend to all, especially trappers who are usually similarly afflicted." C. C. & J. E. Stormes.

There is no farm crop that is more easily, speedily and greatly affected by the supply of moisture than is the potato. It has been found by experiment that it takes about 425 tons water to grow a ton of dry matter of potatoes. A crop of 200 bushels per acre would therefore require approximately 650 tons water; equivalent to a rainfall of nearly six inches. Because of its need for large water supply and its remarkable susceptibility to climatic conditions, it follows that the average potato yield is affected more by water supply than by lack of plant food. The selection of soil and methods of culture must be with these facts in view if success is to be had. The liberal application of fertilizers or the presence of large amounts of readily available plant food will prove of but little value if the moisture supply is deficient. It is also true that too much water will check the growth as quickly and effectually as too little.—Cor. American Agriculturist.

In Red Four Weeks With La Grippe.

We have received the following letter from Mr. Roy Kemp, of Angola Ind. "I was in bed four weeks with La Grippe and I tried many remedies and spent considerable for treatment with physicians, but I received no relief until I tried Foley's Honey and Tar. Two small bottles of this medicine cured me and I now use it exclusively in my family." Foley's Honey and Tar has long been a household favorite for all throat and lung troubles. Refuse substitutes. C. C. & J. E. Stormes.

Child Worth Millions.

"My child is worth millions to me," says Mrs. Mary Bird of Harrisburg, Pa. "yet I would have lost her by cough had I not purchased a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure." One Minute Cough Cure is sure cure for coughs, croup and throat and lung trouble. An absolutely safe cough cure which acts immediately. The youngest child can take it with entire safety. The little ones like the taste and remember how often it helped them. Every family should have a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure handy. At this season especially it may be needed suddenly. F. P. Frisbie.

Did it ever occur to you that fully 98 per cent. of the dolls offered for sale are girls?

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia cures all stomach troubles. F. P. Frisbie.

THE CABBAGE WORM.

One of the Most Destructive and Profitable Pests with Which Farmers Have to Contend.

The common white butterfly seen in cabbage fields is an imported insect and very destructive. It was first seen in this country about 1859 and was discovered at Quebec. A few years later it was found in some of the New England states and has gradually spread over a large area of the United States. The adult female insect is shown in the illustration. The eggs are laid upon cabbage and allied plants, producing the well-known green cabbage worm. After feeding for a time the worm leaves the plant, changes to a chrysalis, from which the adult emerges shortly afterward. There are several broods each season.

Attempts have been made to destroy these pests by the cultivation of a contagious disease, which has been found to attack the worms. This remedy, however, has not been successful and other means must be followed for its destruction. Hand picking the worms, although tedious, is an effective remedy on small areas.

THE PEST IN VARIOUS STAGES.

insect powder, known also as pyrethrum, or bulbul, may be mixed with six or eight times its bulk of flour and dusted on the plants. It should be applied about once a week. It is not injurious to human beings. In some places hot water has been used to good advantage. It can be applied at a temperature of about 130 degrees without injuring the plant, and is sure death to the worms where it reaches them. Paris green is perhaps the simplest and best remedy. The poison should be mixed at the rate of one part in 100 of flour and dusted over the plants when the dew is on or immediately after a rain. Frequent application should be made, so that the young worms are destroyed shortly after hatching.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Butter for shipment or for the home market should have much greater care than is usually given at the farm dairy. Of course the size and kind of package will depend upon the demands of the customers. If tubs are wanted, see that the butter is put in solidly. The top may be smoothed off evenly by means of a straightedge or wire. A cloth is then spread over the top of the tub and a light layer of salt is sprinkled over the cloth. If prints are wanted, see that they are carefully and neatly made, are wrapped in parchment paper and carefully packed. Use special care with small packages designed for custom trade.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Trying to Liquify Helium.

Prof. James Dewar said, in a recent lecture to the Royal Society in London, that the hope of being able to liquify helium depends upon subjecting it to the same process that succeeds with hydrogen, only instead of using liquid air under exhaustion as the primary cooling agent, liquid hydrogen itself must be employed. Liquid helium seems to have a temperature of about five degrees above absolute zero. In order to get within one degree of absolute zero, Prof. Dewar added, another gas must be found as much more volatile than helium as helium is than hydrogen.—Science.
